Cauffiel House

BELLEVUE STATE PARK
WILMINGTON, DELAWARE

PROPERTY HISTORY

Daniel Cauffiel, once a real estate advisor to the duPont family, built this Colonial Revival-style home in the late 1920s.

Cauffiel decorated his estate with unique furnishings from the 1930s. Its exquisite landscaping is ideal for tented outdoor affairs. The adjacent barn provides a rustic setting for a more casual affair.

HOSPITALITY WITH A NATURAL DIFFERENCE

This charming former summer estate sits gracefully atop a hill overlooking the Delaware River. Vintage sun porches open onto rolling manicured lawns with picturesque landscaping, a cozy gazebo and spectacular views from every angle of the property. In addition to a formal parlor and dining room, this grand home includes three period bedrooms to accommodate up to six overnight guests. Situated within walking distance of the house is the Cauffiel Barn, a rustic alternative in an elegant setting.
